About	About the SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026

	Since 2016, the SRHR Knowledge Fair has been the flagship event of Share-Net Bangladesh (SNBD), the national knowledge platform that bridges research, policy and practice in Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights (SRHR). The 11th edition carries forward findings from the three Divisional SRHR Knowledge Fairs (Mymensingh, Chattogram and Khulna) and turns national attention to a critical new frontier: Artificial Intelligence. Young people and couples now access health, family planning and SRHR information through chatbots, social media and AI as much as through clinics. This opens new routes to confidential care — and new risks, including technology-facilitated gender-based violence (TGBV). This year the Fair asks the health, family welfare and SRHR sectors to confront both the promise and the peril of AI.
	Why Join the 2026 Knowledge Fair? - Connect with policymakers, regulators, health-tech innovators, digital rights groups, youth leaders and grassroots organisations - Learn the latest evidence on AI use in health, family welfare and SRHR services - Engage in critical discussions on safe, ethical and accountable AI - Participate in (or follow) the dedicated Knowledge & Innovation Hackathon - Co-create recommendations that link AI, SRHR and responses to technology-facilitated GBV - Celebrate excellence through the Share-Net SRHR Awards
	Objectives of the SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026 1. Knowledge development and sharing – Review how AI is used in Health, Family Welfare and SRHR services, counselling and supply chains, and what works. 2. Ethical AI for SRHR – Agree privacy, consent, voluntary choice, inclusion and accountability standards for AI-enabled health, wellbeing and SRHR. 3. Champion youth-led innovation – Engage young people as designers of safe digital health, family welfare and SRHR solutions. 4. Turn dialogue into commitments – Produce recommendations linking AI, health, family welfare, SRHR and TGBV for 2027 and beyond.

Join the Conversation

The National SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026 will hold two realities in one room: AI as a real opportunity to expand confidential, stigma-free access — and AI as an emerging source of gender-based violence.

Together we can shape how AI serves the SRHR of young people in Bangladesh.

Annual SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026

AI: Safe Tech Save Lives

About the SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026

Join us for Bangladesh's biggest gathering of SRHR leaders, thinkers, and changemakers!

The Share-Net Bangladesh 10th SRHR Knowledge Fair 2025 returns with a bold new vision — to transform grassroots SRHR into a business for sustainable social impact.

This year's theme, "SRHR Business for the Grassroots: Turning Knowledge into Business, Business into Impact", puts community voices at the centre of national progress. It's time to recognise that investing in sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) is not just a health priority — it's smart business for sustainable development.

Experience a day filled with powerful stories, data-driven discussions, and transformative ideas. Engage with over 300 participants from government, development partners, academia, youth networks, corporates, NGOs, and grassroots organisations — all working to turn knowledge into impact.

Together, we will explore how SRHR investments at the community level can drive economic growth, social equity, and human development — proving that investing in communities is not charity, but strategy.

Why Join the 2025 Knowledge Fair?

- Connect with national and grassroots SRHR champions, policymakers, and innovators
- Learn from inspiring community leaders and researchers turning ideas into action
- Engage with corporates and donors exploring SRHR as a social and business investment
- Collaborate to co-create actionable roadmaps linking knowledge, policy, and financing
- Experience grassroots testimonials, innovations, and evidence that redefine SRHR as smart business

This is your chance to be part of Bangladesh's most dynamic SRHR event, where evidence meets investment, and investment meets impact.

Objectives of the Knowledge Fair 2025

The SRHR Knowledge Fair 2025 aims to build bridges between knowledge, policy, and financing — highlighting how grassroots SRHR investments generate measurable social and economic returns.

Specific Objectives:

1. Highlight the Business Case for SRHR – Showcase global and national evidence on the returns of investing in grassroots SRHR.
2. Centre Grassroots Voices – Bring forward stories and insights from community leaders, youth activists, and marginalised groups.
3. Foster Multi-Sectoral Collaboration – Engage government, donors, corporates, academia, and NGOs to co-create SRHR investment pathways.
4. Bridge Knowledge, Policy, and Financing – Demonstrate how evidence and cost–benefit analyses guide smarter SRHR budgeting and investment.
5. Co-create Actionable Roadmaps – Generate recommendations to scale, sustain, and mainstream grassroots SRHR business models in national policy and financing.

Key Topics & Sessions

Are you ready to share your SRHR business venture that is making a social impact into sustainable success?
Share-Net Bangladesh invites you to answer the Call for Business Pitch Abstracts for the 10th SRHR Knowledge Fair 2025, taking place on 14 December 2025 at Hotel Sheraton Dhaka.
This year, the spotlight is on SRHR Business for the Grassroots. If you or your organisation has a tested, revenue-generating SRHR innovation, from a small-scale community enterprise to an early-stage business model, this is your platform.
We present you the opportunity of presenting your business model (covering menstrual health, maternal care, FP/MR, GBV prevention, or youth-friendly SRHR) to an audience of over 300+ national and international policymakers, entrepreneurs, and development partners. The key is to demonstrate how your business creates value, generates income, and strengthens grassroots communities.
We are looking for initiatives that successfully connect SRHR + Business + Grassroots Impact.
Deadline: 02 December 2025 (6 PM)

Call for Stall & Poster Presentation

The 10th SRHR Knowledge Fair 2025 invites organisations, innovators, and creative contributors to participate in two exciting opportunities designed to elevate grassroots solutions and spotlight SRHR-driven social and economic transformation. This year's Fair focuses on "SRHR Business for the Grassroots", emphasising community-led ideas that turn knowledge into sustainable enterprise and meaningful impact.

Call for Stall Display

Share-Net Bangladesh welcomes stall applications from its Registered Member Organisations to showcase innovative SRHR solutions, products, research, community-led enterprises, and impactful models that empower women, youth, and grassroots actors. The Fair—scheduled for 14 December 2025 at Hotel Sheraton Dhaka—will bring together over 300 stakeholders across the SRHR ecosystem, including practitioners, corporates, policymakers, donors, academics, and media.

Only Registered Members of Share-Net Bangladesh are eligible. Organisations yet to register may apply for membership to unlock this exclusive opportunity. The submission deadline for stall applications is 30 November 2025 (6 PM).

Learn more or apply here: https://www.share-netbangladesh.org/kf2025/stall/

Call for Poster Presentation

The Fair also invites individuals and organisations to submit digital posters that highlight bold, creative, and evidence-informed insights on SRHR Business for the Grassroots. Posters should visually communicate impactful ideas, innovations, research findings, or business models addressing menstrual health, safe motherhood, GBV prevention, child marriage, reproductive health access, or livelihood opportunities connected to SRHR.

Submission is open exclusively to Share-Net Bangladesh members. New contributors can easily register to participate. The deadline for poster submissions is 30 November 2025 (6 PM).

Share-Net Bangladesh Knowledge and Innovation Hackathon 2026

Empowering Youth to Turn SRHR Knowledge into Grassroots Innovation

11th National Knowledge Fair on SRHR 2026

Item	Details
Thematic area	AI and SRHR
Venue	Hotel Sheraton, Banani, Dhaka
Proposed Team	3- 5 members per team?
Proposed Plan	• Open call 5-20 November 2026 • Teams announced 1 December 2026 • Mentoring by mentors: 02-05 December 2026 • Hackathon and Presentation: 15 December 2026
Proposed Mentor	2 mentors: - one Technology Expert and one Social Science Mentor
Proposed Format	Pre-event online application, on-site prototype development/refinement, and final presentation
Preferred areas	Dhaka-based Universities/ 5 selected universities (DU, JU, NSU, BracU, BUET, DIU) ??
Recognition	Winner team will be awarded??

Purpose

The hackathon will engage university students from technology and social science backgrounds to develop practical, responsible and user-centred ideas that can contribute to reducing technology-facilitated gender-based violence (TGBV), using AI-powered and technology-based solutions.

Objectives

Generate practical student-led digital solutions or prototypes addressing TGBV.

Encourage collaboration between technology, social science and public health perspectives.

Produce prototype concepts that can be further tested or developed after the Knowledge Fair.

Proposed Themes

The final three themes should be confirmed by the RO and mentors before the open call. Suggested framing:

Informing and Prevention: AI-powered and technology-based tools for awareness, education, information collection, trend identification without exposing survivors' identities.

Networking and Safety: Tech-enabled interventions tools that improve access to information, referral pathways or survivor-centred support.

Empowering and Impact: Tools that help young people recognize, prevent or respond to TGBV.

Team Composition

Each team will consist of 3-5 Dhaka-based (district) university students. At minimum, each team must include: (a) one designated team lead, (b) one student from an ICT discipline, and (c) one student from social science discipline. Suggested Team Selection Criteria are problem relevance, innovation, feasibility, team capacity???

Procedure

The RedOrange will select two mentors. They will develop the Methodology for the Hackathon.

RedOrange will issue an open call through participating universities, mentors and relevant student networks.

Applicants will apply as teams through a Google Form/ equivalent online form.

Each team will submit team details, member backgrounds, problem statement, proposed solution, intended users, and a short description of how AI/ technology may be used.

The selection panel will use a pre-approved scoring, developed jointly by the RedOrange and mentors.

A total of 6–10 teams will be selected to participate in the final hackathon. Two additional teams will be placed on a reserve list and invited if any selected team withdraws or becomes unable to participate.

The selected teams will participate in one or two virtual mentoring sessions with the mentors before the hackathon on 15 December 2026. These sessions will help teams refine their problem statements, strengthen their proposed solutions, and prepare for prototype or design development.

During a parallel session at the 11th National SRHR Knowledge Fair 2026, participating teams will develop prototypes or design concepts under the guidance of the mentors. Each team will present its proposed solution during the closing session of the hackathon.

A jury comprising representatives from the Share-Net Foundation board members will evaluate the presentations against pre-established criteria. The highest-scoring team will receive an award in recognition of its proposed solution.
